SUBJECT—Issue of guidelines for Periphery Development Committee for utilisation of funds for industrial houses/mining establishments for Periphery Development as per R. & R. Policy of Government.

Sir,

Government was considering to issue necessary guidelines for periphery development matters and proper utilisation of funds contributed by the industrial houses and mining establishment as a part of periphery development in the areas they have established their industries. After careful consideration of all aspects in the issue, it is decided that the following guidelines should be followed for the purpose of periphery development :—

1. The periphery of the industry or mining establishment should be the entire district where it is established and in some few cases, if the industry is established in two adjoining districts, both the districts will be considered as periphery. Depending on the size of the industry and its ability to contribute the focus of development will be on the basic civic amenities like road, schools, electrification, sanitation, development of market places, health centres, etc., in the places where the industry is established including the places where the rehabilitation of the affected families are done. Since a large number of affected persons loose their traditional source of income from the agriculture land, necessary training centre may be opened in the rehabilitation areas where they can learn new trades to earn their livelihood in absence of traditional sector. In this case, avenues should be opened both for men and women of younger ages. In case of big establishment the scope of periphery development should be for development of the entire district as a whole as the society in general expect a visible impact of development due to establishment of the industries in the district. Providing drinking water through safe source like tube-wells, etc. should be given priority specially in the areas where the industry is likely to pollute river/nalla water which was otherwise used by the local people before the industry was established for drinking water and other domestic use. Similar arrangement for drinking water for the cattle are also to be maintained by the industry as a matter of their social responsibility.

2. A cluster of industries growing up in one area in a group may be tagged together and they should be responsible as a group for periphery development.

3. The P. D. C. shall examine the report on the socioeconomic bench mark survey, if any, undertaken to identify the affected zone in particular so that the families so affected should be rehabilitated in safe places.

4. The Committee shall examine the periphery development plan prepared by the industry in conformity with the R. & R. Policy of the Government as amended from time to time and try to improve on this as per the State as well as National R. & R. Policy.

5. The Committee shall examine and recommended for proper rehabilitation in the sponsored colonies, which should ensure all weather communication, education, sanitation and electrification, etc. including drinking water. The amenities so created should also be maintained by the industry on regular basis and not left to the mercy of the people once they are built.

6. The Committee will draw up shelves of projects to be taken up in different places and they will supervise implementation through the project authorities as well as through the State Government agencies.

7. The Committee shall approved list of persons who will be getting rehabilitation through jobs in the industry itself, after which the officer authorised by the Collector of the district will issued identity card for securing job in the industry. Jobs given by the contractors of the industry will not be treated as jobs given by the industry.

8. The Committee will spare come time in every sitting for hearing the grievances of the project affected persons and formulated remedies to solve their problems seriously.

9. The recommendation of the Committee will be implemented after approval of Government in Revenue Department being the nodal Department for R. & R. matters in Government.

Yours faithfully

ASHOK MOMIN

Additional Secretary to Government
